

Chair of London Climate Change Partnership

Person Specification

Committed to the objective of making London and London's communities, resilient to the direct and indirect impacts of climate change, now and in the future.

Knowledgeable about how the impacts of climate change can disproportionately effect London's most vulnerable communities and individuals.

Experienced as a leader of national or international organisations, with relevant experience in the public, private, academic or third sectors.

Strategic thinker with an ability to set a strategic direction and drive change within an organisation.

Knowledgeable about climate change adaptation and resilience, with a holistic background that enables communicating across multiple issues and diverse groups.

Recognised as an authoritative voice on London and/or climate change.

Highly skilled and experienced in engaging with decision-makers at all levels in the public, private, academic and third sectors.

Experienced public speaker and performer in public fora, and as a spokesperson who engages with the national and international print, broadcast and online media.

Strongly embedded in networks of influential decision-makers about climate change/resilience in the public, private, academic and third sectors, and able to make productive connections.

Experienced at initiating and maintaining effective relationships with stakeholder organisations.

Politically aware but recognised as independent and non-partisan.

Ability to chair large meetings with many different stakeholders.