

Chair of London Climate Change Partnership

Person Specification

Essential

Committed to the objective of making London and London's communities, resilient to the direct and indirect impacts of climate change, now and in the future.

Strategic thinker with an ability to set a strategic direction and drive change within an organisation.

Skilled and experienced in engaging with decision-makers in the public, private, academic and third sectors.

Enthusiastic public speaker, and spokesperson who can engage with the national and international print, broadcast and online media.

Politically aware but recognised as independent and non-partisan.

Ability to chair large meetings with a variety of different stakeholders.

Desirable

Knowledgeable about how the impacts of climate change can disproportionately effect London's most vulnerable communities and individuals.

Be a passionate voice on cities and climate change

Awareness about climate change adaptation and resilience, and able to communicate across a range of issues and with diverse groups.

Experienced at making productive connections and maintaining effective relationships with a wide range of stakeholder organisations.